RED CROSS SUBSCRIPTIONS TOTAL MORE THAN $7,000

Over $2,000 Subscribed at the Business Men's Luncheon Last Evening--$5,000 Remains to be Raised

That Portsmouth is rising to her opportunity to help in the raising of the $100,000,000 for the American Red Cross was shown on Thursday evening in Elmer Hall at a Business Men's Red Cross Luncheon, followed by a request for subscriptions to the fund for the Portsmouth quota which is set at $12,000. The popular subscriptions to the fund as a result of the able talks, delivered by F. P. Davidson of Boston, Dr. W. B. Johnston, and the Rev. Dr. Lucius H. Thayer, reached a total of $2,000 and brought the grand total for the two days up to $7,000, was announced by members of the committee following the luncheon. This leaves a little less than $5,000 to be raised and the Red Cross committee are certain that the requested amount will be over-subscribed before the end of Red Cross Week on Monday.
The meeting was attended by more than 200 and was presided over by Mayor Ladd as chairman. After the luncheon "the hat was passed" for the expenses of the meeting and an amount more than double in excess of the costs of the lunch and the other expenses in connection with the affair was secured. The meeting opened with the serving of lunch at 6.30 with over 150 covers. Music for the occasion was furnished by the Naval Band from the Navy Yard, an excellent program having been arranged. The lunch menu was furnished by the National Hotel Cafeteria.
As many men are doing Mr. Davidson has given up the management of his business for the time being and is devoting all of his time to speaking at

MORLEY AND K. OF C. GAME A SCORELESS PITCHERS' BATTLE

One of the tightest games in the Sunset League for the 1917 season was played last evening when the Morley Button Company and the Knights of Columbus battled for five innings with out scoring a run. With the shower coming before the inning was concluded Umpire Woods called the game at the end of the fifth. It was a pitchers' battle from start to finish, both Morley and Thomas working well, Thomas fanning eight and Moran getting seven victims.

Moran, center fielder for the Morley team, saved probable scores in the first inning by two fine running catches off Hanlon and Paul Bailey, both of whom looking like certain hits. Moran also made a hard fly in the following session for Thomas, robbing him of a hit. A fast double play to Moran, Glenn and Shoemaker for the fourth out, but to the interest and likely prevention the Knights from scoring. Moran had a little the better of the argument as he allowed but two hits and no free tickets, Thomas allowing three hits and two walks.

The Game

1st. Inning.—McDonald singled but was thrown out attempting to steal second, Hanlon to Sarotta. Glenn was fanned, Pilgrim singled with a pretty one past second and stole. Shoemaker walked, Jack Bailey out on a grounder, Sarotta to Paul Bailey. Two hits, no errors, no runs.

Hanlon and Paul Bailey each hit hard flies which Moran pulled down out of the clouds after hard runs, probably preventing runs. Kilmer was fanned, no hits, no errors, no runs.

2d Inning.—Cullinan's grounder was fielded by Paul Bailey, who crossed the bag ahead of the runner for a put-out. Thomas fanned Moran and Sullivan. No hits, no errors, no runs.

3d Inning.—McDonald was hit by a pitched ball, Glenn singled with a drive to left, Pilgrim and Shoemaker struck out. One hit, no errors, no runs.

Kennedy singled to right, Moran missed fielding Sarotta's attempted sacrifice bunt and both men were safe. J. Driscoll fanned, Hanlon was struck out, P. Bailey forced Sarotta at second on a grounder to McDonald. One hit, one error, no runs.

4th Inning.—Jack Bailey was fanned, O'Brien playing left, Sarotta from first to second, P. Bailey retired from first, Cullinan was safe when T. Driscoll booted his grounder. Moran out on a foul fly to Hanlon. Sullivan was thrown out at first, Thomas to Sarotta. No hits, one error, no runs.

Kilmer singled back of second, Thomas hit into a double play forcing Kilmer, Moran to Glenn, and being retired at first, Glenn to Shoemaker. T. Driscoll safe on Moran's error and took second when McDonald threw wide to first, attempting to complete the play. He was thrown out at third when he took a lead off second, Moran to Moran to Pilgrim. One hit, two errors, no runs.

5th Inning.—Moran fanned, McDonald retired on a grounder to Sarotta. Glenn walked going second when Driscoll dropped an easy fly off Pilgrim, then they pulled a double steal. Shoemaker was hit, miking the bases. With Bailey at bat Glenn attempted to reach home on the squeeze play but was tagged out by Hanlon. No hits, one error, no runs.

Horan fanned Mollington and Kennedy. Pilgrim dropped Sarotta's fly near the third base line and the batter was safe, the stole. J. Driscoll made the third out by fanning. No hits, one error, no runs.

OUR POOR RECORD.

The average yield of potatoes in the United States is 113.4 bushels to the acre. In Germany it is 183 bushels. The average yield of wheat here is 15.9 bushels. In Germany it is 32. The yield of oats here is 27.4. In Germany it is 41. The yield of barley here is 29.7. In Germany each acre produces 36 bushels.

But German fields did not always yield such bountiful crops. Thirty-five years ago Germany raised only 110 bushels of potatoes, 19 bushels of wheat, 25 bushels of barley to the acre. The German soil is poor. The German climate is unfavorable to successful agriculture. Yet by a careful study of the subject of fertilization it has been possible to increase their productivity by 60 per cent.—Philadelphia Ledger.

RESCUES MADE BY AMERICANS

Destroyers Bring in Survivors of Crews of Torpedoed Ships.

Base of the American flotilla, in British waters, June 22 (by the Associated Press).—We owe our escape from a watery grave to the bravery of your men," was the parting word of the second officer of a rescued British crew to the commanding officer of an American destroyer, which arrived here yesterday morning with the survivors.

The destroyer was able to find one boatload of 12 men. A second boat, containing 18 men, is missing and it is feared has been lost. Six members of the engine room crew were killed when a torpedo struck the ship without warning several hundred miles from the nearest land.

"We were torpedoed at 6 o'clock Monday morning," the second officer told the correspondent. "The explosion tore a hole through the ship and caused her to sink in 15 minutes. Two boats got away, but soon became separated and we fear one has gone down."

"After we were out nearly 24 hours and were enduring awful hardships, we were pulled by an American destroyer. I tell you, Old Glory never looked so good to me before. We were treated with the utmost kindness by the American tars and were their guests the whole day before they brought us in. We feel that we owe our lives to the bravery of these boys from the states, who are daily proving their reputations as sailors and good sportsmen."

The survivors were sent to a sailor's home here, while the captain made a report to Vice Admiral Sims, as acting commander of the British forces in these waters.

James E. Powers of Nantucket, Conn., the only American among 54 rescued by an American destroyer after 30 hours afloat, told the correspondent that the Germans feared at their victims.

"It was painting a winch in the fore-part of the ship," he said, "when an explosion threw me off my feet. It was my first intimation that we were torpedoed. I ran aft. There was wreckage all about and the crew were getting into the boats. The torpedo hit the engine room and forced the cargo up through the hatches. Several of the engine room crew were killed and I heard that several others were unable to get out of their bunks."

"All those alive after the explosion got away in four boats. The remaining boats were cut loose, so as not to go down with the ship. All this time we saw no submarine, but when 40 yards from the sinking ship a submarine appeared alongside of us, her crew crawling out of the conning tower and laughing at our predicament."

"The commander asked our captain the name of the ship, which was British, and her destination. When this was given, the submarine crew laughed and jeered again, and made off. We sailed and rowed for 30 hours. Our rations were getting low, especially the fresh water supply, when good fortune smiled on us in the form of an American destroyer."

Pass the Food Control Bill.

While some congressmen are still standing in opposition to the food control bill there is evidence that the great majority of the people are in favor of the legislation proposed to protect them against the extortions of the speculators in food-stuffs to which they have been subjected for many weary months. The men who have been fattening off the necessities of the people will never desist from their evil course until forced to do so by the strong arm of the law, and it is this which leads the president and the people who understand the situation to demand the enactment of a measure that will afford relief and protection.

The president calls attention to one important fact, which is that the food control bill is not designed to place the people on rations or to prescribe what they shall eat or the quantity thereof, but to control the speculators who will seek to make inordinate profits from the handling of food products, as they have been doing in the past.

This is a fact that every-one should bear in mind in order to avoid confusion. There are many who feel that this bill is an imitation of what has been attempted in some foreign countries by way of regulating the food supplies, whereas it is nothing of the sort. It is very far from being a measure to place the people of this country on rations.

This paper has contended all along that the exorbitant prices of food commodities were not due to actual shortage, but to manipulation and speculation, and evidence supporting this view is frequently coming to light. We recently mentioned the discovery by government agents of fifteen car loads of potatoes rolling on a sidetrack near Chicago, and equally exasperating reports come from Maine, where it is said a man was recently found destroying a large quantity of potatoes. When asked why he was doing it he answered that the sale was that he should keep them till a certain date unless called for before, and then destroy them. A Massachusetts grocer a few days ago bought some potatoes from Prince Edward's Island at a price of more than $3 a bushel. In one of the bags he found a card from the grower saying that he received $1.12 1/2 a bushel for them in April.

This is what needs to be stopped, and must be stopped if the people are not to be robbed in the future as they have been in the past.

President Wilson proposes to stop it, and in the effort he should have the support of every member of Congress, as he already has the support of the vast majority of the people of the country, who realize that not all of their foes are under the command of the kaiser.

It is given out from Washington that the government will probably have to draft additional forces to fill the ranks of the regular army and the national guard. It was hoped the young men of the country would not permit such a necessity to arise, but it seems they are not coming forward in the numbers desired, and unless there is a whirlwind finish of the recruiting program conscription will have to be resorted to. The ranks must and will be filled.

The entertainment to be given by the Knights of Columbus the latter part of this month to Portsmouth's army and navy recruits will be a very pleasant affair and highly creditable to the organization. Portsmouth honors the young men who have offered their services to the government in the field and on the sea, and the Knights of Columbus do well to give these honors visible form.

Congress appears disposed to slap a stiff tax on the newspapers of the country, notwithstanding all they have done and are doing to support the government in this time of trial. There is no other one force in this war to be compared with the newspapers, but apparently they must stand and deliver just the same.

At this time of terrific taxation why should Congress see fit to let up on athletic goods, patent medicines, perfumes and cosmetics? Is there any good reason why these articles should not bear their fair share of the burden?

The navy yard enlisted force did well by the Liberty loan, subscribing for more than $35,000 worth of the bonds. This shows that these forces are ready to serve their country in more ways than one.

There were sixteen flag days in London in May, and this month there are 23. This is a pretty good record, but the United States beats it, for here at the present time every day is flag day.

"China's president is now a figurehead," says a headline. But that cannot be said of the president of the United States.

From the Exchanges

Worthy of the Iron Cross
(From the New York Herald)
The German who "discovered" the documentary evidence used in the Prussian White Book to prove that Belgians fired on the Kaiser's soldiers is a drunkard, a morphine fiend and a moral degenerate, all this being proved in a German court, where he was convicted of extorting $30,000 from the mother of a soldier. In other words, he was a typical product of Prussian Kultur.

How About It, Father?
(From the Emporia Gazette)
If the men and the children of the household won't eat plain food and be happy, there's no use in talking to the women of the house about food economy. This is the message sent out by the Kansas Council of Defense.
"Farmers are doing everything in their power to keep production at the point of safe living and safe fighting," commented Dr. H. J. Waters, president of the council. "If their efforts are to count, however, they must have the cooperation of the home. We cannot be extravagant in our households and expect farmers still to furnish enough food to supply us and our allies."
"It is not through the activities of the housewife alone that we are going to have economy. Fully as much depends on the head of the family and the children. If they are dissatisfied, the housewife will try to satisfy them without paying any further attention to economy. They must take a part fully equal to that of the housewife in practicing and encouraging food thrift."

Norway Reaps Her Sowing
(From the New York Times)
Norway is sending to this country commissioners who will ask for exports of wheat, corn and oats. In the meantime Germany is sinking her ships and killing her sailors. On the 16th the destruction of five Norwegian vessels was reported. Only four of the men on one of them survived the German gunfire, and the lives of all on another were taken. In May forty-nine of Norway's ships were sent to the bottom and she has lost 281 since the first day of January. When the submarines were engaged in this foul work well-known men in Norway were exporting to Germany the nickel used in making the torpedoes by which ships were sunk. They had been doing this for two years, and their suicidal export trade has been a subject of discussion in Norwegian newspapers.

The attitude of Norway's Government is extraordinary. Commissioners coming here to represent it in negotiations for food will not find it easy to prove that they deserve any consideration. They can get no grain from Canada. They should have none that is produced in the United States, so long as Norway fails to resent Germany's attacks upon her merchant marine. For a long time she has been the victim of a one-sided war. If she had shown evidence of manliness and decent self-respect, and had become a war ally of her friends here and in Europe, she might reasonably ask for a part of the food we can spare. Our Government now has absolute power to control exports, and this power should be exercised to the disadvantage of Norway.

Spies of Both Poles
(From the Columbia Record)
It is said that in England there are positive and negative spies. The latter go around in the guise of friendliness and spread all sorts of rumors to cause discouragement. They tell that France's man power is giving out, that Germany is getting stronger and would be able to war for ten years, that the destruction of merchant vessels is appalling, etc, and so on ad infinitum. We judge that some of the same sort of cattle may be found in the United States. In which case we are encouraged to suggest the return of the public whipping post and the bastinado.

"Three-Deckers" For Brooklyn
(From the Brooklyn Eagle)
By signing the three-family house bill, Governor Whitman has brought relief to many thousands of property owners in Brooklyn and has also provided a safeguard against the overcrowding with big tenements of many sections of the borough which have been built up with single family houses.

Governor Whitman's memorandum shows that he signed the bill for this latter reason, which is the ground on which the Eagle has supported the measure. He wrote: "On account of the restrictions contained in the tenement-house law there is no incentive for constructing a tenement house for three families only. A new tenement house is ordinarily at least six stories high and houses a number of families on each floor. Relief from such conditions by any means which properly can serve the health and safety of tenants is highly desirable."

That last sentence of the governor's contains the nub of the whole matter. For years real estate interests in Brooklyn have tried to take three-family houses out of the operation of the tenement house law. That would have brought relief from over-crowding to many sections, but the Board and the philanthropic interests of Brooklyn opposed the plan because it would not "properly conserve the health and safety of tenants." It would have relieved such houses from inspection by the department and there would have been no means to compel proper sanitary and ventilating equipment. The present bill leaves the three-family houses under the inspection and control of the Tenement House Department and guards against dark halls, dark bedrooms and neglected plumbing, thus making a relief which is safe and in every way desirable.

Six-story tenements are necessary to house the big population of the city. But they are not necessary in every part of the city indiscriminately. There is room for both the big tenement and the little. It is just as desirable that small tenements shall be protected in suitable areas as that detached houses shall be protected, and special exemptions are made for them in the zoning law. The new law makes it sure that the three-family brownstone and brick houses which line so many streets in Brooklyn will not be torn down and replaced.

DO NOT REALIZE SERIOUSNESS OF WORLD-WIDE WAR

William H. Topping, secretary to Congressman Sherman B. Burroughs writing from Washington to the Manchester Mirror has the following to say on the war situation:

The people of New Hampshire and New England, busy as they are in their mills and factories have not yet awakened to a full realization of the seriousness of this awful world-wide war. So engrossed have they been in business, so busy have been the people manufacturing war material and filling orders for foreign trade due to the war, that they have not taken time to think of real conditions affecting the American people.

Ten days in Washington has made a most vivid impression upon my mind. The soberness, the seriousness, the earnestness and the look of anxiety as to the future is so apparent, so uppermost in the minds and in the conversation of the great men of the nation in congress assembled that one is almost appalled. It is the one theme of thought and talk.

War hangs like a pall over the city. Its presence is distressing and the very atmosphere of the old capitol is changed. I was astounded at this change since the close of the regular session on March 4. From optimism it has changed to pessimism. By this I do not mean that anyone fears the outcome, for I have never yet met a man who believed that Germany could win. But for the first time in the history of the war, official Washington is looking at it from the practical side and figuring the tremendous cost of money, food, human life and blood it is going to take to make this supreme contest for human rights, liberty and freedom.

Washington realizes that we have passed the sentimental and "hed their period of the war—that it is now something besides brass bands, enthusiastic oratory and the waving of the flag. We are approaching the agonizing period whose pathway is filled with broken hearted mothers, weeping wives and sorrowful relatives. We are facing the time when blood must be spilled and the flower of the young men of the country must offer their lives in order to perpetuate human liberty and the stability and safety of world wide government. It is this stimulation that has appalled Washington, that has made men who sit under the dome of the capitol so serious, so very thoughtful and so sad. They are looking at the situation from a close angle, from a knowledge of true conditions and with a clear realization of what is actually coming.

Talking with Senator Gallinger, one of the best informed men in the U. S. relative to exact conditions, with a grave face and most earnest tones, he said: "I am terribly apprehensive. I think it means that we must virtually fight the battles. Our government must furnish the money, and our people must supply the foodstuffs. When I think of what this will cost in human life alone I am almost overwhelmed."

What the senator so vividly expresses represents the sentiments here at the present time. No one thinks this war is going to end quickly any more. As one man, whose name is household word all over the country, said to me Sunday:

"There are but two ways to Berlin. One is blasting the German army back by the Haig process; the other is by starvation in Germany and Austria."

Many people here in Washington look to see empty stomachs have more effect on the ending of the war in Europe than bullets and bombs. Newspaper men who were in Germany just before the declaration of war by the U. S. state that food conditions at the time they left were terribly acute, and one man stated to me that the matter of a square meal was a mighty serious proposition. For a long time, he said, everything was measured out to rich and poor alike, and just as he was leaving a reduction of fifteen per cent was made in the amount of food allowed.

I was talking with a prominent official of the agricultural department a few days since and I told him how New Hampshire people were planting this season, and especially the people in the cities. That in Manchester and Nashua, the two big manufacturing centers, thousands of citizens who never before had gardens were planting them, and he said to me: "Let me give this message to your people: Plant more and care well for your gardens. The indications are that the demand for food supplies from abroad will be greater by far than even dreamed of now, and self-preservation and patriotism demands that every man who plants his garden should vigorously cultivate it to the time of harvesting his crops. It may mean much to him later, for from present indications we shall virtually have allied Europe to feed next fall and winter."

This is not a glowing picture to the people of New Hampshire, but the war question here is so serious, the atmosphere is so charged with its responsibilities and its appalling outlook has so engorged the attention of the great capital of the nation that all other great public questions have for the time been almost forgotten. It is to give New Hampshire a little closer view of the war that I have penned these lines.

NAVY NOTES

Senator Weeks Favors Airplanes.

The development of the United States aircraft service as a solution of the submarine menace was on Thursday urged by Senator John W. Weeks of Massachusetts. In a public statement Senator Weeks said:
"The increasing destruction of shipping by the German submarines described in the late newspaper dispatches affords an effective argument for those who are urging the speedy development of our aircraft service to the highest point of efficiency; for, in my opinion, it is through the liberal and energetic employment of the airplane that the submarine menace will be reduced."
"We must strike at the submarine bases, and to do this we must call upon our aerial forces. The submarine commanders appear to have accurate information as to all important sailings, and will continue to work destruction to enemy and neutral shipping unless we cripple them by destroying their own bases of supply. I had hoped that a plan had been evolved for minimizing this danger through the use of facilities already abroad, but it has become apparent that this question must be dealt with through the air."

Torpedo Testing Barge Launched.
Little Sylvia Simmers, daughter of Clayton W. Simmers, assistant naval constructor at the Charlestown navy yard, broke a bottle of ginger ale over the side of the steel torpedo testing barge No. 1 as it slid down the ways Thursday. Then the mused hands of the yard played "The Star Spangled Banner," sailors and marines came to attention, and the harbor tugs screamed raucous greeting.
The barge, first of its kind to be built under direction of the navy department, was finished in less than six months. Immediately following the christening the keel of Fuel Ship No. 16 was laid, children of officers of the yard driving the first rivets, as is the custom. Frank L. Lyon and Clayton W. Simmers, Jr., drove the first one and Hyland Lyon and Richard Simmers the second. John Hasbrough, 34 years old, nephew of Commander R. B. Hasbrough, directed this ceremony.

NEWFIELDS.

A Red Cross rally will be held this evening at the Methodist church at 7.45 which will be addressed by A. L. Dudley and Mr. Bates of Exeter.
The Newmarket, Newfields and Exeter divisions of Boy Scouts hold a meet at Elmington field, Exeter, on June 23. After the meet they go to Newfields by team in charge of Judge Skute, for a camp fire.

MEN ARE NEEDED FOR STATE QUOTA

Capt. Bennett Urges, Better Response—Places Open in Balloon School.

There is still something wrong with the recruiting in New Hampshire, according to the reports of the Army stations in this district, and in order to fill the required quota before June 30, it will be necessary for this state to furnish 67 men daily.

Only seven men were accepted for the army between June 14 and June 21, and Capt. E. B. Bennett, U. S. A., is urging greater response, not only to fill the state's quota, but to meet the demands of the President's call for 70,000 volunteers.

The number of applicants required from the state to fill its quota was 861. The number accepted to June 20, inclusive, was 228, leaving still due from the state 633, and a daily average to fill the quota of 67.

On the roll of honor of men accepted between June 14 and 21, were: Spencer T. Shales of Dover and Elphège J. Ledoux of 238 Pearl street, Manchester, for the medical department; Arthur Hardywood of Somersworth, Harold P. Boland of Haverhill, and Tracey J. Ross of East Haverhill, for the field artillery, and Ernest B. Jones and Harold C. Jones of Canaan, for the aviation section.

The recruiting officer of the regular army in Portland, who also has charge of the recruiting stations in the state of New Hampshire, has received instructions from the War Department to accept for enlistment about 60 men who have experience, as lathe operators, drill press operators, and qualified machinists, for service at the Balloon School at Omaha, Nebraska.

Men accepted for this branch of the service will be sent direct to the school for a period of instruction and will then be used in connection with the various balloon companies soon to be organized.

This service is of a highly technical nature and should appeal to men who are interested in aeronautics. All applications should be sent to the Recruiting Officer in Portland, or the nearest recruiting station.

WILL GO IN CAMP AT ROCKINGHAM PARK

The Fourth Reserves regiment of R. E. engineers, which is being raised under the command of Lieut.-Col. William S. Wooten in New England, will go into camp at Rockingham park on or before next Thursday, June 28. This was announced from the regiment headquarters lately, and the purpose of encamping the men is to give them several weeks of elementary military training before they are sent to work behind the battle lines in France. One company of the engineers has already been ordered out to make the camp for the other six companies. This is Company B, from the New York, New Haven & Hartford, in command of Capt. Frank J. Patten. The men are to be taught the school of the soldier, the drills of the squad, company and regiment and also some rifle practice.

Andrew Morn, a former Portsmouth boy who lived here before the Civil war, and enlisted in the 11th Mass. Regiment is visiting friends here.

STATE DENTISTS AT LAKE SUNAPEE

Collins of Lisbon Heads Association—Clinics by Specialists.

Lake Sunapee, June 22.—Members of the New Hampshire Dental association gathered at the Sunapee Park hotel yesterday in annual session, and last night were unanimous in proclaiming their reception and the meeting itself one of the best ever held. A general atmosphere of cordiality at once set the visitors in good humor and they settled down to the business meeting and a series of clinics which amply repaid all for their efforts in being present.

Dr. J. E. Collins of Lisbon was elected president for the ensuing year and he other officers chosen were: Dr. W. J. Moyley of Manchester, vice president; Dr. W. A. Young of Concord, secretary; Dr. E. D. Forrest of Tilton, chairman of the first executive committee; Dr. J. P. Hammond of Somersworth, chairman of the second executive committee and Dr. C. H. Goodwin of Bennington, chairman of the third executive committee.

Chair clinics were given by the following specialists: Dr. C. W. Staples of Boston, "The Staple Crown Culp Sabre In Bridge Work"; Dr. Joseph E. WANT MORE CATHOLIC CHAPLAINS

At the request of Cardinal O'Connell of Boston, Congressman Tague on Thursday asked the war department to explain its recent ruling whereby, it is alleged, the Roman Catholic church is denied its full quota of army chaplains. According to representations made to Mr. Tague the war department decided last year to assign chaplains of the various denominations to the army in the proportion that their church membership bore to the entire church membership of the country. By this ruling, it is contended by Cardinal O'Connell, that the Roman Catholic church should have 67 chaplains in the army. The adjutant-general's department, it is said, announced on June 7 that the Catholic church would be allotted but 31 chaplains.

There are now 74 chaplains in active service, 16 of whom represent the Roman Catholic church. It is the claim of the Boston Catholic prelate that 41 additional chaplains of the Roman Catholic faith should be assigned to duty, if the war department proposes to hold to its ruling of last year making assignments proportional to church membership.

PLAY GROUNDS FOR CHILDREN AT THE BEACH

The Hampton Beach board of trade is planning to have a playground for the children on the sands near B. street. It is planned to have teeter boards, ladders and the usual equipment of a playground to amuse and entertain the little folks.

It is also stated that owing to the existing war that the usual Wednesday evening display of fireworks will be given up this season.

The beach will be illuminated this year at night by strings of colored lights extending from Leavitt's Hotel to the Casino.

BUY BONDS NEXT WITH OUR CIGARS

Plan is to Have $3,000,000,000 Issue Next Fall in Small Denominations and to Sell Everywhere

Robert W. Wooley Director of Publicity for the Liberty Loan, told the National Advertising Advisory Board recently that when the government asks the people of this country next September to lend $3,000,000,000 more to carry on the war, bonds will be issued in denominations so low that they may be paid for over the counter.

He said Secretary McAdoo has not yet officially endorsed the plan, but has been advised to do so by those whose efforts in floating the first $2,000,000,000 had convinced them of its wisdom.

If the advice of these men is followed the new bonds will be placed on sale immediately after the terms of the loan are announced. They will be sold over the counters of clear stores, in department stores everywhere that men and women are in the habit of going. The woman going to a department store with $60 to buy a dress, perhaps, will see the bond there and may take a $10 or $50 dress and invest the rest of the money immediately in a bond.

Benjamin Strong, governor of the New York District Federal Reserve Bank, told the advertising men that the most important thing just now is to get the ground prepared for the coming loan. The class of persons for whose money a drive must be made, he said, is the class that draws so much income every week in an envelope and spends it all before the end of the next week. He urges that every effort be made to persons of this kind to spend a little less than they get and put the difference into government bonds.

"The thing to do," he said, "is to get this money at its source. If large employers of labor, like the railroads, can make arrangements with their employees to have so much taken out of their wages every week the process of investment will have begun. When the loan comes cash will not have to move around. It will have already been assembled in the form of credits and the floating of the loan will have become largely a matter of book-keeping. In England and France there are thousands of associations of working people who are willing thus to save money for future loans."

He suggested that the government issue short term obligations for the benefit of such persons. Their money would then begin to draw interest immediately and these short term obligations would easily be converted into bonds when the time came.

The advertising men met at the Advertising club to celebrate the success of the Liberty Loan. Collin Armstrong who presided, said the loan had convinced him that Wall Street was not only the financial center of America, but also the patriotic center.

Mr. Wooley said that the farmers had contributed relatively little to the loan, first, because he was busy with his crops, and second, because the war is not yet a reality to him. Insufficient use had been made of the monthly magazine and of the rural weekly in advertising the loan, he said. Like other speakers, he praised the advertising men who had paid out of their own pockets for space in newspapers. He agreed with them that no newspaper ought to be asked by the government to contribute its advertising columns, any more than a munition manufacturer, is asked to contribute shells.

Congress made no appropriation for advertising the loan, and none will be available, he said, for advertising the coming one of $3,000,000,000.

INTERNATIONAL NEWS SERVICE LOSES TO A. P.

(By Associated Press)

New York, June 21.—The United States Court of Appeals has upheld the Associated Press in its suit against the International News Service declaring the injunction brought by the latter to prevent trial is void. This in effect established the right of the ASSOCIATED PRESS and other news gathering organizations to protection and the enjoyment of its fruits of industry, expenses and enterprise. The suit against the International News Service is to prevent the I. N. S., through delivery of its employees and stealing service from issuing to its subscribers the news as their own.

(By Associated Press)

GREATLY ENLARGED

The Sparks Shows Wonderfully Enlarged and Improved Since Their Last Visit to This City.

The excellent reputation left by the Sparks Shows on former visits to this city would insure a liberal patronage this time, but the lusty growth and vast improvements in the show since its last visit will make it more attractive than ever. Sparks is a man of energy and enterprise, wide experience and ample capital, and he has brought all this to bear in making his show superior to all other similar exhibitions. He has a brand new train of monster railroad cars built especially for him, all new gorgeous cages, dens, costly trappings, etc. He has engaged the best talent big salaries can procure. He has expended over $10,000 in increased equipment. Every effort has been made regardless of cost to make his show satisfying to his pride and advanced ideas. That he has succeeded is amply proven by the way the newspapers speak of his exhibition wherever he has appeared. It is the universal verdict that he has now the most splendid, complete and high-class exhibition of its kind in America.

Every one should come to town in time to see the gorgeous street parade and then follow the crowd out to the show grounds where some big free outside exhibitions are scheduled to take place just previous to the opening of the doors to the main tent.

Washington, June 21.—The Senate finance committee today took final action in adopting a bill to amend the war finance bill to increase one-quarter of a cent the second class postal rates for newspapers in addition to the tax of 5 per cent on all profits in excess of $1000 a year.

RED CROSS FUND GROWING FAST IN ALL PARTS

(By Associated Press)

New York, June 21.—The war relief fund of the American Red Cross has reached to date in the country at least one-half of the required $100,000,000 according to reports from the states headquarters for the campaign. Fully $50,000,000 have been subscribed and the probability of a large over subscription is hopefully expected.

New York City to date has subscribed $28,631,965, more than one-fourth of the total subscription asked for from the whole country.

HARVARD COMMENCEMENT JUNE 21, 1917

The Harvard Spirit of Service, Addressed by Howard Elliott, '81, President of The Harvard Alumni Assoc.

Graduates:

This is your day—this is Harvard's day. We who believe and love Harvard know that it is one of the nation's days and now it is the Allies' day! The first commencement at Harvard in 1632 when nine men received degrees. From then until today, when 1,225 were conferred, commencement has been celebrated 275 times and 45,518 have received degrees. There are now living 26,918 holders of Harvard degrees.

A degree from Harvard is precious and the holder of it must remember always that it imposes upon him a great moral obligation; an obligation to do and live that he will increase the power, the reputation and usefulness of Harvard, and so that by no act or word shall he bring disgrace to Harvard or to the country.

The thousands who have received their Harvard degrees "commenced" their real life with them. They have given much service and have been a great moral and constructive force in making the nation. They have been loyal and patriotic and have given their lives in defense of right and justice to save the country.

Memorial hall and the tables there tell of the moral courage, self denial, and willingness to die in support of a just cause. They represent the true Harvard spirit of service.

To lay down one's life in defense of one's country so that its institutions and ideals may be preserved and improved is a noble act of service.

The moral and physical acts of war are terrible; yet they are often spectacular and appeal to the imagination and enthusiasm of the citizen. They open the door quickly to active work for the country and possibly to undying fame. That the people of the United States and Harvard graduates will perform again this service in defense of the nation, its moral life, its honor and integrity is a statement that cannot be doubted. If there is doubt, it will indicate that the ideals of the people have changed and in that case more responsibility than ever rests upon Harvard graduates and all educated men to have the courage to stand for the right.

On the other hand the every day work in time of peace is as important as to fight in time of war, and requires the same moral courage and high sense of duty. This may mean, and often does mean, severe drudgery, demanding patience and self-denial and the giving of service that may seem without results of appreciation.

The great conflicts of the past are over, and graduates of Harvard must help to solve highly many present and future problems which promise to be more complicated and pressing than those of other days—this, because of the dislocation of human relations all over the world.

"It fares the land to hastening ills a prey,

Where wealth has accumulated and men decay."

Wealth has accumulated in a marvelous manner in this country and the annual increment will continue to be great.

But men will not decay if moral courage and the spirit of service is displayed by the thousands of Harvard graduates and by the men from other colleges in the land.

Think of the growth and wonderful development of the country since Harvard was founded, and particularly in the last fifty years! Great as that growth has been, the next twenty-five years—the next fifty—will be even more wonderful and more critical in the history of this country.

The opportunity for service will never be greater—service to self, to family, to country, to morality, and to humanity.

"The late John J. Ingalls of Kansas, in a famous sonnet, makes 'Opportunity' say:

"Master of human destinies am I! Fame, love and fortune on my foot-steps wait.

Climb and fold I walk; I penetrate

Deserts and seas remote, and passing floor and mast and pulchre, soon or late I kneel unbidden once at every gate! If sleeping, wake! If feasting, rise before I turn away. It is the hour of fate, And they who follow me reach every state! Mortals desire, and conquer every foe have death; but those who doubt or hesitate, Condemned to failure, penury and woe, Seek me in vain and uselessly implore, I answer not, and I return no more!"

This invitation to opportunity must not be accepted by Harvard men. It would be discouraging to the young men of the country if it were true that opportunity comes only once. This is a time filled with opportunities for the alert and patriotic man.

But it is essential that the relation of the government to all human activities shall be so adjusted that initiative will not be killed and the individual may have full opportunity to obtain and retain the benefits of his brain and industry and yet be restrained from doing harm to others.

The educated man must take part, a more active part, in framing and executing laws of the land. He must not leave this work so largely to those whose ambitions are at times at variance with the real needs of the people, or to the reformer who is carried away by enthusiasm and has little practical knowledge wherewith to support his contentions.

Sectionalism, based on diverse economic interests and views, should not be allowed to create discord in this beautiful land of ours. Class feeling should not be developed and all should do their part, realizing that only a few can be generals and that most of us must be privates whose faithful work, however often wins the battle although the world may not applaud.

The working out of a plan to settle international disputes in some orderly manner and without war, just as business quarrels are settled, is a world question that must be determined.

The great question of the fair division of the annual increment of wealth between those who work with their hands and those who have created and own the plant or enterprise must be answered.

The wonderful material resources of this country must be conserved. The capabilities and responsibilities of our vast population of different races must be developed and established for the benefit of posterity.

The educated man should set an example of high moral courage, hard work and sane and simple living—and this example should be checked upon idleness, waste and extravagance, personal and national—practices which with our growing population retard the progress of the nation.

These matters of national importance will be solved correctly in the long run—but time is an important element. As other great questions were solved in the past by force and untold suffering, as the mysterious problems of Europe are now being settled, so some of our problems may have to be similarly settled. Of what use, though, are education and training and Christianity if we cannot give head to our difficulties before the crisis comes, and by proper study and consideration offer some them without war, riot and suffering?

Everyone can do something to create a sound, public opinion that will insist upon a just and peaceful settlement of questions like these.

To give of time and talent and moral force for this laudable purpose is a duty that every Harvard man owes to his college and his country.

The Harvard Foundation.

There is one immediate and pressing service that every graduate should give to Harvard. It is to contribute to and support the Harvard Foundation. This is a plan to raise $10,000,000. The Marshall of the Day, Thomas W. Lamont, is the inspiring head of the Committee of the Alumni who has charge of the movement. He is giving unstintingly of his time, talent and money to obtain this amount in the shortest possible time. He and his committee should have the moral and financial support of every Harvard graduate.

The amount proposed is none too large if Harvard is to hold its place as a great national and world asset. This is most necessary now because some of the great Universities of Europe from which we have received so much in men and knowledge have been crippled by the war. Upon Harvard and all American Universities will rest the responsibility of carrying on their work and of furnishing scholars and investigators and the moral force of the educated man.

Individually, when we are sick we try to have the best doctor; when we go to law, the best lawyer; when we have a difficult problem of any kind, the best advice. Shall we not give to the young men at Harvard the very best of teachers and facilities?

To do this we must relieve the teaching staff of all anxiety over the present and future welfare of themselves and their families and we must pay salaries and furnish equipment sufficient to attract and hold the best brains of the country—and adjust properly to the very important work that they are doing.

Harvard must be strong financially to give the highest service to the country, and her graduates must help her. Each one can give something and the payments can be spread over a number of years.

Graduates:

We are today facing conditions such as the United States and the World have never seen before. We are face to face with great opportunities and are taking part in great movements that will affect the history of

Lemons Beautify! Make Quarter Pint of Lotion, Cheap

Here is told how to prepare an inexpensive lemon lotion which can be used to bring back to any skin the sweet freshness, softness, whiteness and beauty.

The juice of two fresh lemons strained into a bottle containing three ounces of orchard white makes a whole quarter pint of the most remarkable lemon skin beautifier at about the cost of one must pay for a small jar of the ordinary cold creams. Care should be taken to strain the lemon juice through a fine cloth so no lemon pulp gets in, then this lotion will keep fresh for months. Every woman knows that lemon juice is used to bleach and remove such blemishes as freckles, sallowness and tan, and is the ideal skin softener, smoothening and beautifier.

Just try it! Get three ounces of orchard white at any pharmacy and two lemons from the grocer and make up a quarter pint of this sweetly fragrant lemon lotion and massage it daily into the face, neck, arms and hands, and see for yourself.

the United States and of the World—And the welfare of our children and of all who come after us.

Our degrees mean that not only are we educated men, but that we have a responsibility as men and citizens to stand for the right—and against the destruction of justice and the trampling down of civilization—to give service, service to the community in which we live in addition to that which is necessary for the care of ourselves and our families. We and all educated men owe this service to our country so that it shall never be said that this great experiment in government failed because of the lack of moral courage and the incompetency of its citizens.

Graduates, we are meeting today as patriots in the greatest war the world has ever known. We have enlisted our lives for our Allies, some of whom are represented here in person and all by their National Flags. We will win this battle for humanity and civilization, but the way will be long and the fight hard. Harvard will do its share and give a maximum of service.

As we stand under our flag and the flags of the Allies let us renew our faith in the ultimate sanity and civilization of the world and say with Longfellow:

"Look not downfully into the past, it comes not back again; wisely improve the present; it is thine. Go forth to meet the shadowy future without fear and with a manly heart."

POLICY NOTED ON NAVY PRICES

Secretary Daniels Outlines Reasons Why He Will Determine Charges For Raw Materials on Basis of Production Cost

Washington, D. C. June 22.—A conference that is given great economic significance was held Wednesday morning in Secretary Daniels' office when members of the Federal Trade Commission considered with the secretary the problem of securing raw materials for the use of the government at prices that would be equitable both to the producer and the government. The principal raw materials considered are those that will be used in the construction of the 16 cantonments, the building of ships, and the manufacture of munitions.

In the list are included iron, coal, cement, oil and lead.

The commission will begin an investigation at once to determine the proper prices to be paid and the navy department will pay the prices recommended. The law empowers the secretary of the navy to fix prices, and producers must furnish materials at the figures named by him.

After the conference, Secretary Daniels said: "The trade commission is investigating the cost of production of coal, oil, copper, cement, iron ore and other products. Information about which we must have before we can determine what price the government should pay. In some cases, coal for instance, I have fixed a tentative price; but in most cases I have ordered the supplies we need for use in the near future, subject to determination of the price later, on the basis of cost of production, with the addition of a reasonable profit. Beyond that figure I am not willing to pay."

The secretary declared that there is no justification for a tremendous increase of price on basic materials, since the only additional cost over the normal times is in getting these materials out of the ground.

"Congress," he went on "has appropriated so many millions for the navy, expecting it to buy so much of these supplies. If the price is doubled, it means that we will get only half as much as was expected from a given sum, and will require much more money from the treasury. Under the law, the President is authorized to fix a reasonable price for what is needed for the navy. There is no disposition whatsoever to cause any hardship to the producers. We are perfectly willing and intend to pay them a fair, even a liberal profit. But we will not pay exorbitant prices. Such as are being quoted in some instances.

"It is difficult, it is true, to determine the cost of production in an entire industry because it varies so widely with different companies. One company which has a rich vein of copper can produce it for perhaps half what it costs a concern which has a poor vein. It is the same way with coal mines. These are the problems which are being worked out by the trade commission, which will not primarily recommend prices, but will give the cost of production as the basis for fixing prices to be paid for supplies for the navy."

The secretary concluded his statement by saying that after the commission has reported of the cost of production, a reasonable profit will be added, and the prices will be fixed, in accordance with authority conferred by congress.

IMMEDIATE OFFENSIVE AGAINST TEUTONS

(By Associated Press)

A big German offensive against the French line east of Valenciennes on Monday and Tuesday the capture of several hundred yards of trenches has gone for nothing. The French on Tuesday through counter attacks regained the lines and pushing on assumed the offensive on Tuesday night.

The attack was made by the German Crown Prince with high effectiveness of picked troops covered by great artillery bombardments and bombing from airplanes. The French in retaking the lost ground inflicted heavy casualties on the Germans.

In Champagne the Crown Prince has lost his recent gains and the French have also assumed the offensive, recapturing all of the territory lost on Wednesday and have advanced and established their lines on a front of 600 yards to a depth of at least 300 yards, inflicting heavy losses by artillery and infantry fighting on the Teutonic troops.

Comparative calm prevails on the French front held by the British only artillery engagements taking place in Northern France and Belgium on the Russian front, according to advices from Berlin, artillery action by the Russians against the Austrians and Germans in Volhynia and Galicia is taking place and the Russians are attempting trench raiding infantry engagements. The German official reports say that these are gaining nothing against the Teutonic allies.

Little news is received from the Trenches in the Austro-Italian theatre of war but unofficial reports state that a battle is in progress on the entire line where the Italians are said to be attempting another drive to capture Trent.

Daily the political situation in Russia is getting brighter. The Congress of Soldiers and Workmen have voted conference in the Provisional government assuring support in the war against German aggression and a strict adherence to the needs of the Entente Allies to defeat Germany for the protection of the Russian republic. The Congress has demanded a shake-up in the Russian army and the taking of an immediate and determined offensive by the armies in the field against Germany.

Martial law has been proclaimed in Tomsk, Western Siberia, because of wholesale murders and robberies committed by criminals that had been granted amnesty and had joined the forces of the militant Anarchists. More than 1500 of these pardoned criminals have been arrested, with about 800 others. Twenty persons were killed and a number wounded.

The arrests followed the exposure of a plot to plunder all the banks and shops and assassinate the leaders of civic organizations. The 800 associates of the criminals were dragged from the haunts of the latter. The casualties occurred when some resistance was offered to the arrests.

COCCHI IS ARRESTED IN ITALY

Rome, June 21.—Alfredo Cocchi, wanted by the New York authorities for trial on the charge of murdering Ruth Cruger, 17-year-old school girl, was arrested at Bologna by Italian authorities this afternoon. Cocchi has been under observation for several weeks.

The Italian authorities moved promptly on receipt of advices through American Ambassador Page requesting that he be detained.

Excavating Cellars Where Cocchi Did Business.
New York, June 21.—Police today began digging in two new cellars for the bodies of other girls who may have met Ruth Cruger's fate at the hands of the Italian motorcycle shopkeeper, Alfredo Cocchi. Cocchi formerly had shops above both of these basements.

Other developments in the probe of the Cruger murder mystery, including a letter from the Cruger girl's father, to Mayor Mitchell demanding the removal of Woods and condemning the inefficiency of the police in his daughter's case, came fast in all the many ramifications of the case.

Attempts have been made to get to Connelley La Rue, an informant of the woman detective, Mrs. race Hamilton, who found the Cruger girl's body. Mrs. La Rue is in Polytechnic Hospital recovering from a jump from a window to escape alleged white slave pursuers. A double police guard has been placed at the door of the girl's room night and day.

The district attorney's office says this girl today made a statement tending to show an organized white slave traffic existing between the United States and South American countries, in which Cocchi may have had a hand.

Meanwhile Police Commissioner Woods instructed Inspector Parnot to "get to the bottom of the entire Cruger and white slave situation and spare no one."

Mrs. Cocchi gave the police names of two new girls with whom she said her husband was familiar.

ARRAIGN ALLEGED MURDERERS

Cambridge, Mass., June 11.—Joseph Wakelin and his wife, Sarah N., who are accused of the murder of their 7-year-old daughter, Loretta Winifred on June 11, 1916, were arraigned before Judge Keating in the superior criminal court at Cambridge today on first degree murder indictments. Joseph Wakelin was held without bail and his wife was held in bonds of $5000.

Atty. William R. Scharton, for the defendants, will probably move for trial in July. At today's hearing he argued on two motions, the first, a request that the district attorney furnish him with the minutes of the grand jury investigation, and the second, that he be permitted to examine the evidence offered at the inquest on the dead girl's body.

Regarding the first motion, Asst. Dist. Atty. Posdick stated that the district attorney's office had agreed to furnish the minutes of the grand jury investigation to counsel for the defense. Atty. Scharton then withdrew this motion.

Referring to the second motion, Posdick declared that the district attorney's office was willing that Scharton should see any records of the case that were proper for him to see, and that no court order was necessary. His office had not been informed as to what papers Scharton desired to examine. He suggested that Scharton consult the district attorney and try to reach an agreement.

DO YOU KNOW THAT WITH EVERYTHING CONSIDERED THERE IS MORE VALUE IN A DOLLAR'S WORTH OF GAS THAN IN ANY OTHER MATERIAL, FOOD, FUEL OR PLEASURE THAT YOU BUY FOR A DOLLAR?

Scharton announced that he understood the government had secured the services of Dr. Magrath, medical examiner for Suffolk county, and that he intended to obtain the services of Dr. O'Leary, co-worker with Dr. Magrath.

RED CROSS SUBSCRIPTIONS TO TAL MORE THAN $7000.

meetings in New England for the Red Cross. Mr. Davidson is Treasurer of the Thomas Long Jewelry Company of Boston and his appeals for funds have influenced thousands of people to donate to the worthy cause many hundreds more than they at first thought possible. His talk in Portsmouth certainly added to the donations when several of those attending stated when contributions were called for.

Dr. Wadsworth of this city, the second speaker introduced by the mayor, spoke of the need of giving freely to the Red Cross. He spoke also of "some of the beneficence which he had attended this little while the solemnity of the occasion was increased by the number of boys taking their degrees in the uniforms of the United States. He urged the free giving of funds for the care and protection of these American boys who are going to fight for the honor, protection and future peace of America and the world.

Dr. Johnston, the last speaker, has but lately returned from the battle front in France. With him he brings tales of the sufferings in the war-torn nations and stories of the great good which has been already accomplished by the American Red Cross.

"Just think," he said, "What it means to send our boys to the front. Some day some are going to return, crippled, wounded, thin, pale, unshattered and emaciated. Can you go to one whom you meet, shake his hand and say 'I pity you, but I pity you when you won't away and although I couldn't go with you I did what I could to help in my contribution to the Red Cross'."

He said that thousands of lives have been lost that might have been saved had the Red Cross had the workers and money to do more, but that what they could do they did, cheerfully and earnestly. His address was largely the means by which the donations were so generously made.

Following the talk by Dr. Johnston the Mayor called for subscriptions, first, readily, the figures of some of the contributions already at hand which ranged from $500 to $10 in value.

At the call for contributions of $250 one was secured, and another at $200 was subscribed. There were for $100 and nineteen at $50, while the others, from $100 to $25.00 brought the total for the meeting up to $2000.00.

To Give One-Fourth of the Day's Business.

Andrew Jarvis, proprietor of the Dore Company store, and the Nichols Confectionery store, announced that he would give to the fund twenty-five per cent of his gross receipts from both stores taken during the day's business on Friday, Portsmouth's Red Cross Day. The announcement was received with applause.

Following this a letter from the directors of the Allied Theatres company was read announcing that ten per cent of Friday's receipts at the Olympia and the Colonial theatres would be turned over to the treasurer of the Red Cross, and in addition to this the great film drama, "The Last Supper," will be presented at the Colonial theatre on Sunday evening with an augmented orchestra of 100 pieces for the interpretation of the special music for the benefit of the fund. The Red Cross fund will receive the entire receipts, the theatre bearing all the expenses connected with the securing of the film and its projection on the screen.

Banks Declare Red Cross Dividend. Letters were received by the committee read at the meeting from The First National Bank, the National Mechanics and Traders Bank, and The New Hampshire National Bank, stating that through the banking days they were prepared making any direct contributions to any funds. But that they might assist in the fund they have followed the plan of other banking houses and corporations of declaring an extra dividend known as the Red Cross dividend, of $500 each. This goes to the stock holders in the banks with the request that the money be turned over to the Red Cross, and as in every instance in other cities in the country the stockholders receiving Red Cross dividends have used them for their suggested purpose, the Portsmouth fund will probably be swelled by $1500.

One of the biggest financial institutions in the city has donated $500 to the fund, and this, in addition to the subscriptions already in the hands of the committee, brings the total subscription to $7000.00.

Mr. Washburn to Take Subscriptions. All subscriptions are payable to Jackson M. Washburn, treasurer of the Portsmouth branch of the American Red Cross, and Mr. Washburn will be at the National Mechanics and Traders' Bank during business hours today and from 6:00 o'clock until 8:00 o'clock this evening for the purpose of receiving subscriptions on pledges already made and as many others as the public cares to contribute.

RUSSIA REMAINS IN THE WAR TO ITS CONCLUSION

(By Associated Press)

Washington, June 21.—Russia will remain in the war against Germany until German autonomy is defeated, the Russian mission declared to state department officials today. "The statement said that the mission was certain that the safety of the Russian Republic depended upon the decided defeat of German militarism and was the only way to secure a stable victory which will result in the lasting peace."

MAYOR MITCHELL DEMANDS ACTION BY THE POLICE

(By Associated Press)

New York, June 21.—A public inquiry into police methods in the city in connection with the death of Ruth Cruger, whose body was discovered in the cellar of an Italian, Cocchi, was ordered today by Mayor Mitchell. In instructions to Leonard Weinstein, Commissioner of Accounts.

TO TAKE ACTION AGAINST FISH COMBINATION

(By Associated Press)

Boston, June 21.—Proceedings aimed at the protection of the consumers against the alleged illegal combination to raise and increase prices in the fish industries were ordered today by the Federal government against Fish Pier Company, the New England Fish Exchange, the Bay State Fish company and the Commonwealth Ice and Storage Company.

I may fairly be claimed that humanity has within the past hundred years found a way of carrying a theatre in its pocket, and so long as humanity remains what it is it will, doubt in taking out its pocket stage and watching the antics of the actors, who are so like itself and yet so much more interesting. Perhaps that is, after all, the best answer to the question, "What is a novel?" It is, or ought to be, a pocket stage. Scenery, light, shade, the actors themselves are made of words and nothing but words, more or less cleverly put together.—F. Marlon Crawford.

TEUTONS PLAN BUYING UNIT FOR THE WORLD

Kansas City, Mo., June 21.—Extension of credit to small and weak countries is one of the most powerful influences that the United States and her allies may develop against Germany and Austria, said Dr. Edward E. Pratt, chief of the federal bureau of foreign and domestic commerce, in an address before the National Association of Credit Men in convention here today.

"We know," said Dr. Pratt, "from the limited amount of news that trickles through the central powers that very ambitious plans are being made to dominate the world's trade after the war. A speaker at an Austrian meeting of invited manufacturers is quoted as stating that plans have been perfected whereby after the war 120,000,000 people, the total population of Germany, and Austria-Hungary, will buy their supplies from the rest of the world as a unit. We know that the various industries of Germany have been more and more consolidated into co-operating groups until virtually all German industry has united to one organic producing and selling agency backed with the full power of the great German banks and the organization of the German government.

"One of the most important and effective steps that the entente powers and this country can take is to organize our facilities for so extending credit that never in the future shall smaller and weaker countries be forced to depend upon a power so dangerous to their freedom.

"America's opportunity in this great time of stress and sacrifice is to render every service in her power to those who come to her with their orders, to extend her economic and industrial resources as well as her military powers to those who need and merit them."

AUSTRIAN CRISIS NEARS REVOLUTION

Berne, June 21.—The movement which has resulted in the downfall of the Austrian cabinet bears all the earmarks of a revolution in its inception. This is based on private advices received from Vienna.

While the primary cause of Count Czernin's resignation was opposition of the Polish Nationalists, it was pointed out that this party is supporting the Czechs in their demand for a separate kingdom of Bohemia and those of the Slavs who are demanding a separate southern principality created out of Austria's dominions. Thus three formidable movements for secession are now joined in one powerful anti-government plan.

Proceedings in the Reichsrath last week, heretofore suppressed, were reported today to have included very frank speeches by the Poles and Czechs. The Poles declared they demanded a "united and independent Poland, not the farcical kingdom of Poland which Germany and Austria have pretended to create."

Polish Dictating Making of New Austrian Cabinet.

Amsterdam, June 21.—Count Czernin, the Austrian premier, who resigned last week and later was asked by Emperor Charles to form a new cabinet, devoted all of yesterday to this work, according to the Vienna Fremdenblatt. Interest centered mainly in conferences of Polish leaders, who demanded that no member of the ministry of the late premier, Count Karl Sturgkh, be included in the new cabinet. This the premier is said to have accepted. The Poles further insisted that Polish membership in the cabinet continue.

An unusual feature of the day was a joint meeting of south Slavs and Czechs with representatives of the Latin races for the purpose of common action. The newspapers believe the difficulties between the Poles and the government will be overcome.

THIEVES ENTER AND RANSACK LEAVITT HOUSE

Some time Thursday afternoon while Police Commissioner Frank E. Leavitt was at his place of business, and Mrs. Leavitt was attending the high school graduation exercises, thieves entered their residence on South street and got away with jewelry, cash and silverware to the value of $75. The thief or thieves gained an entrance by smashing a small hole over the catch in a rear window. They first tried to enter via a cellar window but found the door leading from the cellar to the first floor locked. They thoroughly searched every room and carried away Mrs. Leavitt's wedding ring, a gold watch, $5.00 bill, $4.00 in Buffalo nickels, a small bank containing $1.00, some silverware, and other small trinkets. The work appears to be the same as has been done at various other residences.

MISS STERLING HAS RECORD ATTENDANCE

Miss Sylvia Sterling, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edward E. Sterling of Rye, who has just completed her first year in the Portsmouth High School, has a record for school attendance that she can justly feel proud of. During her nine years of school life she has never missed a session, been tardy or even dismissed. She is obliged each morning to walk nearly a mile in order to take the electric car to come to this city and last winter walked from her home at Wallis Sands to this city to attend school, a distance of five miles, in the winter's worst storm, car service being suspended for two days. Miss Sterling is only fourteen years old and it is doubtful if there is another young girl in New England that can equal her record.

THE HERALD HEARS

That the change of voting place for ward five has evidently started something. That the selectmen of that ward say they are the ones to order any change and that they have not been consulted on the matter. That the rush to the colors would be greater if there were a lot of vacancies in the rank of admirals and brigadier generals. That an apology is the easiest thing in the world to make, especially when one doesn't mean it. That the dust of Daniel street is back once more and the people there are delighted. That the work of the Red Cross is evident in Portsmouth.

The orchestra was made up of the following: Piano, Eunice James, Hope Adams; cornetist, Viola Mudgett; drummer, Ernest Rinalducci; violins, Eugene Hunter, Serena Jones, Harold Bidle, Susan Soule, Perry Sussman, William White, Elmer Yeaton, Walter Frothingham, Sadie Shransky, Earl Parnham.
